PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

GREAT TRUNK LINE AND UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE.

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel, in

Construction and Equipment
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches below the surface. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

THE SAFETY APPLIANCES

in use on this line well illustrate the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER and PLATFORM
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safe-guards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Pullman Palace Cars

are run on all Express Trains

From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington,

To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis and St. Louis,

WITHOUT CHANGE,

and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.

THE SCENERY
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE

is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form

A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

Tickets for sale at the lowest rates at the Ticket offices of the Company in all important cities and towns.

GILES' LINIMENT IODIDE AMMONIA.

Cures all Pain in Man and Beast

TESTIMONIALS:

Pentander's Penn (Falling of the Womb.) A Wonderful cure—other years my wife suffered with this terrible complaint. She was attended by doctor after doctor, went to the different hospitals where fellows were treated; tried them all; wore bandages and pessaries with only temporary relief. Her life was miserable. We applied Dr. Giles' Liniment. Her relief was immediate. She is now well.

H. BEINHARDT,

I had twelve strokes of Paralysis. My leg, arm and whole side were useless; was obliged to use a wheelchair every day. Being taken almost hopeless of Animonia has cured me. Will answer any inquiries so that one afflicted may know of it.

JOHN ARNOLD, North Stamford, Conn.

Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, April 22, '76.
W. W. Giles, Esq., Dear Sir:—I used your Iodide of Ammonia Liniment on Flora, (my horse's) hind pastern joint. She had been quite lame; the effect was wonderful; saw it was how quite well. Very respectfully yours,

A. WEIGH.

P. S.—I am now using it on Littleton's right knee pan.

A horse shoe fell on a valuable young horse, was removed by Giles' Liniment Iodide of Ammonia.

Another Sufferer cured.—Discharged from the Massachusetts General Hospital as incurable, with tuffs of scrofulous degeneration in my shoulder. Rheumatism and neck suffered fearfully for three years, tried everything; lost all hope. By Giles' Liniment Iodide of Ammonia effected a complete cure.

ISAAC SMITH,
No. 72 Prune street, Fall River, Mass.

Sprains, squitches, lameness in horses. Giles' Liniment Iodide of Ammonia is a perfect specific. No person who owns a horse can be without it.

M. BURGESS,
709 seventh avenue, New York.

In my family, and for the stock, I have used Giles' Liniment Iodide of Ammonia. It is an unrivaled, safe and reliable remedy. Its use is universal in this neighborhood. It gives entire satisfaction.

VIGORENE

SUFFERED 23 YEARS.

Jersey City, September 1st, 1878.
No tongue can tell what I have suffered for 23 years from Catarrh. I tried all kinds of remedies, but it could not reach half of what I suffered. Internal agency is all that can cure Catarrh. I am cured of my disease and a sense of your worth. I send you a testimonial that you may publish it for the benefit of others. Yours truly,
Rev. G. F. FISHER, 79 Grand St.

DON'T GO FOOLING AROUND.

As a vascularizing medicine I can confidently recommend VIGORENE. I have used it in my family and know others who have used it. It is the best medicine ever published. It don't cost a dollar a bottle, but can be had by making it a dollar and a half. It is the cheapest and most complicated that manufacturing it is known.

WM. E. DUVALL, Electrical, L. I.

OF YEARS STANDING.

I used one bottle of VIGORENE and can truthfully say that it has cured me of a disease of nine years standing.

"KEEP A STIFF UPPER LIP."

BY PHŒBE CARY.

There has something gone wrong,
My brave boy, it appears,
For I see your proud struggle
To keep back the tears.
That is right. When you cannot
Give trouble the slip,
Then bear it, still keeping
"A stiff upper lip."

Though you cannot escape
Disappointment and care,
The next best thing to do
Is to learn how to bear.
It, when for life's prizes
You're running, you trip,
Get up start again.
"Keep a stiff upper lip!"

OUR FRONT ROOM.

From Ballou's Dollar Monthly.

"Bessie," said Bess, sitting down emphatically on the door-step and fanning herself with her wide straw hat. "There, that front room must and shall be furnished.

I wish it might be, observed Harrie, dubiously; but I don't feel much encouraged about it as yet.

If I were you, Bessie, I'd order the suit in reps, and a tapestry carpet. I remarked, sarcastically. I'm afraid we cannot quite afford Aubusson and satin brocade.

How much money have you, Harrie? asked Bess, ignoring my question.

Five dollars and forty-three cents, was Harrie's reply, after an inspection of her pocketbook.

And you, Flo?

I have two dollars, laughed I. We shall not be able to rival the Bentons, I am afraid dears.

The Bentons were our next door neighbors, be it remarked, whose generous parlor was at once the admiration and the despair of half the housekeepers in Norwoodville.

The Bentons! exclaimed Bessie, with superb scorn. Do you suppose, Florbella, that I would sit down in our front room if it bore the faintest resemblance to that upholstery shop of the Bentons? Do you imagine—

Of course not! I cried, with uplifted hands, warding off any more indignation. I don't suppose anything at all. But what has sent you struggling with that impossible front room again?

"Isn't impossible, retorted Bess. I have $20 all my own; that makes $35 between us. Now, if you girls will follow my directions, we can take that $35 and furnish that room.

How? I queried, helplessly; while Harrie evidently thought it of no use to say any more to a girl who talked such absurd nonsense as furnishing a parlor with $35.

We were three orphan sisters, keeping house together on an income so ridiculously small that any outlay for new furniture was quite out of the question; and yet the one desire of our three hearts was to furnish our parlor, a pretty room, but bare as any barn. We had a conveniently appointed kitchen, and a cool, clean dining room, where we sat in the afternoons with our sewing. Our bed rooms were comfortably furnished; but for the parlor we had not so much as a table.

To-morrow our quarterly income was due, but that we must have to live on for the next three months. So the thirty-five dollars left over from this quarter was all we could possibly count on, and that seemed too small a sum to think of in connection with the furnishing of our front room.

REORGANIZE THE PARTY.

The smoke of the late political contest has passed away. The dead have been buried after the usual panegyrics on the deceased, and the wounded are convalescent. An amnesty has been proclaimed to deserters who return to their flag, and we are willing to exchange prisoners. A summary of the result of the November elections as to the Governors elected, with their politics, States, and majorities is as follows:

Delaware, John W. Hall, Democrat, 1,280; Nevada, Lewis R. Bradley, Democrat, 500; South Carolina, Wade Hampton, Democrat, 100,000; Tennessee, Albert S. Marks, Democrat, 40,000; Texas, Oran M. Roberts, Democrat 40,000; Kansas, John P. St. John, Republican, 25,000; Massachusetts, Thomas Talbot, Republican, 40,000; Michigan, Charles M. Croswell, Republican, 30,000; Nebraska, Albinus Nance, Republican, 1,200; New Hampshire, Natt Head, Republican; Pennsylvania, Henry M. Hoyt, Republican, 22,787.

This leaves us with power in the majority of the States, and with an assured Democratic Senate, and House of Representatives. In other words, for the balance of Hayes' term we hold him and the Republican party in complete check. There is therefore no reason why Democrats should abandon their organization, give up their principles, or relax their preparations for future contests. So long as this is a free country there will be a Democratic party. It has existed from the foundation of the Government, and has always been the conservator of law and peace, —the advocate of economy and honesty.

New organizations have sprung up in the past, such as the Know Nothings, Labor Reformers, Greenbackers, &c., but they have been temporary and futile; and the only effect they have had, has been to injure themselves in the long run, and eventually die out.

REORGANIZE THE PARTY NOW!

We all know how effete and decayed politicians have dictated our policy and candidates in the past. Fossils and dead beats have been brought to the fore, and young men in the ranks have been ruthlessly stricken down, whenever they have exhibited honorable aspirations for position.

Let us consolidate now in every election district and hold them.

We suggest as a basis of reorganization, the following:

FIRST. No forced Resumption of specie payments.

SECOND. No demonetization of silver as a currency, and the admission of a trade dollar to a limited amount as a legal tender; believing that 420 grains of silver is better than 412½.

THIRD. No decrease by legislation of the present volume of currency, because all of it is needed by the country, but gold and silver to be the basis of value.

FOURTH. The Government to retire all National Bank notes, and issue instead "greenbacks," thus saving $20,000,000 annually.

FIFTH. The Government to receive its own notes in payment for taxes, duties on imports and exports, for salaries, and debts due the Government.

SIXTH. As to taxation, all property, real or personal, bonds or otherwise, not exempt by law, to bear an equal burden.

SEVENTH. Opposed to the repudiation of any legal contract. Opposed to the issue of irredeemable currency to any amount.

EIGHTH. A tariff for revenue with incidental protection.

NINTH. No more subsidies or land grants to corporations or individuals.

Of course differences of opinion exist on these questions. Our plan may not be the best one, and we only suggest it as a basis.

Let us try to reorganize the party NOW, and call to our aid such as believe with us.

A SERIOUS QUESTION.

The Hazleton Sentinel has suggested a point that should be well considered at this time. It seems that at the late Congressional Conferences for this District, the one body adjourned to meet at Danville and the other at Bloomsburg. Unless there is a compromise, two years hence we will have the same difficulty that we have had recently. The method of that compromise it may not be wise to discuss now, but we suggest as we did before, that the expiring bodies can in no way bind their successors, any more than any legislative or other nominating body. Their functions cease when their duties are ended.

The suggestion of the Sentinel that Lackawanna is entitled to separate representation is eminently sound, if proportional representation is to be abandoned. Lackawanna is as much a county as any other in the State, and the portion of it in our District is as much entitled to separate representation, as the portion of it in the XIIth District is entitled to be, or as the fractions of Luzerne, Bucks, and Montgomery have been. But if, as the Sentinel suggests, the Lackawanna portion of our District should have separate representation in 1880, as well as the Luzerne portion, certainly the rule should have held good this fall.

Then the vote for nominees would have stood as we claimed, viz: Out of 21 conferees Brockway had Montour, 3; Pike, 3; Lackawanna, 3; Columbia, 1,—10; Giving Klotz Carbon and Monroe uncontested, and Luzerne contested, he had but 9. If Brockway had power of substitution for Lowenberg and Swisher who left the conference at Hazleton with him, then he had 12 to Klotz's 9.

That question, however, is now all over, and we only call attention to it now to save future complications.

The Marquis of Lorne, the recently appointed Governor-General of Canada, has sailed for the Dominion, and a serious of semi-royal festivities and ceremonies may soon be expected. In his new position, the marquis, for the first time since his marriage with the Princess Louise, will be relieved of the unpleasant thought that, though the husband of a Princess, he was not born a Prince.

The skeleton of a horse was found by the side of a buggy in the barrens between Millville and Bridgetown the other day. From appearances they had been there about a year. John C. Jameson, of Deerfield, recognized the buggy as the one that had been stolen from him more than a year ago. It is supposed that the thief had become frightened, tied the horse to a tree, expecting that somebody would find it, and taken himself off. One end of a rope was around the tree and the other around the skeleton's neck.

HOYT AND THE GREENBACKERS.

EDITORS COLUMBIAN.—In your issue of November 8th, you say: "The majority for the State ticket is cut down to about 1800 by the greenback vote, and these people can congratulate themselves that they have succeeded in defeating Dill and electing the man they have been working for, Hoyt." Is it not time this miserable mode of warfare were ended? What good is to come by repeating so absurd a slander. Precisely the same charge, in even a more agravated form, was made against the Senior editor of the COLUMBIAN; and there is much more reason to believe it true in the latter than in the former case; and yet no intelligent, right-minded man believes, and no man who desires to maintain a character for honesty and truthfulness ought to say, that either Captain Brockway or the greenbackers "have been working for Hoyt."

Whether the existence of the National party did or did not contribute to the defeat of Dill, and the election of Hoyt is a question that may admit of doubt. But that the Nationals were honestly working for the success of their own clearly defined principles, without caring to consider which of the old parties it would most help or most injure, is simply certain; and no man has a just right to call in question the integrity of their motives.

One thing more permit me to say: If the Democratic party in Pennsylvania ever expects to gain a decisive victory over the Republican party, it must cease to be the champion of the Money Power, must adopt and steadily maintain a monetary system that shall be in the interests of the industrial masses, and not one in the interest of the Shylocks of the land. The Republicans can beat them every day in the week in base subserviency to bond-holders, and mere money capitalists.

E. E. ORVIS.

Mr. Orvis does not convince us that a statement of facts is a "miserable mode of warfare." It is pretty generally admitted that in many places greenback organs were supported during the late campaign with funds furnished by republicans, and that certain greenback candidates were acting in the interest of Cameron. The slander referred to against the senior editor of this paper is not a parallel case; but even if it were that charge was utterly groundless, and has been unanimously denied. In the other case the result shows for itself. We do not allege that the Greenback party were all working directly for Hoyt, and have no doubt that Mr. Orvis and many others were "honestly working for the success of their own clearly defined principles." The result however, was the election of Hoyt. Atleast two thirds of the greenback vote came from Democrats, Republican-Greenbackers at the last moment went back on the new party and voted the old party ticket. If the Democratic greenback vote had been given for Dill he would have been elected by at least five thousand majority.

If Mr. Orvis will read the Democratic platform he will find that that party is not the champion of the money power, and that it has adopted and its record shows that it has maintained a monetary system that is in the interest of the industrial masses. The great difference between the two old parties is upon these very points. If the Republicans are in the interests of the "Shylocks, bondholders, brokers and mere money capitalists," and the Democrats are opposing them, how then can the Democratic party be working in the same interest?

From Tramp to Millionaire.

THE FORTUNE IN AUSTRIA WHICH AWAITS GENERAL KILPATRICK'S HOSTLER.

Says the Middleton Argus: A week before the Deckertown Encampment a stranger haggard and footsore, applied to General Kilpatrick at his farm near Deckertown for something to do. It happened that the applicant for aid had been in the Union army during the war of the rebellion, and was well posted in General Kilpatrick's career. This fact was sufficient recommendation, and the General gave him a job. He was a German. He took charge of General Kilpatrick's horses, and was the only man in the General's company who kept sober during the exciting times of the Encampment. He was a reticent, well-behaved man, and three weeks ago Mr. Walter Titsworth, a prominent business man of Deckertown was not a little taken back by the stranger coming in the store where he clerks and showing him a draft for $5,000 on Selligman Brothers the well-known bankers of New York. The German's name was Louis Von Meyer. He told Mr. Titsworth that he had been left a large fortune in Europe and that he was going across the ocean to claim it.

This statement has been proved true. Von Meyer turns out to be the son of General Herman Von Meyer of the Austrian army. The son came to this country because his family was opposed to his marrying the girl of his choice. He came here in 1858. He entered the Union army and remained in the service of the country until the war was ended. Then he went to California and worked on railroads and mines until last spring. He then came east, and seeing the Deckertown Encampment advertised by flaming posters, and knowing General Kilpatrick, he started for the latter place in hope of obtaining work. He was given work as stated, and he became a great favorite in and about Deckertown.

The death of a relative in Austria has left him an independent fortune, and he has gone to that country to prove his claim, the $5,000 draft mentioned being sent to him for that purpose. He intends, according to the statements of Deckertown people, to invest his money in property thereabouts when he returns.

As to General Grant.

As to Genral Grant, the case is different. By right, as a brave, skillful, and successful soldier, he belongs to the whole country; but by a most fortuitous accident, politically he belongs to the republican party, and the office holding portion of it demand, with very strong emphasis, that he shall be its presidential candidate in 1880. Of course their demand is unwise, inexpedient and suggestive of nothing but disaster, yet eighty thousand men who make of politics a trade, who have absolute control of all the political machinery of their party, and who will work with determined energy and singleness of purpose to effect their object, are a force whose dangerous strength must be recognized. They have reason, as office-holders, not as patriots, to wish for Grant's return to the White House, for during the eight years of his occupancy they greatly prospered. No matter how long the country may endure, that administration will stand all apart in its distinctness in history as the era of political corruption, chicane, bribe-taking, gilt-taking and official demoralization. The black page on which it is written cannot be expunged nor altered; neither time nor circumstances can change it; and the country, no matter what the politicians may desire, does not wish to add a similar one to it.—From the Philadelphia Telegraph (Rep.)

There is such an officer at Washinton as the presidential barber, who is paid from the Federal Treasury. The office was established by Grant and continued by Hayes. The barber attends to no other duties than those pertaining to his profession and which are required of the White House, yet he is carried on the Treasury roll as a clerk. Under Grant he was rated as a $1,200 official, but Hayes has promoted him to a $1,400 berth. It is thus that the people's money is squandered while want is staring thousands in the face. Mr. Hayes, with a salary of $50,000 per annum, must tax the country to have his hair brushed and his whiskers trimmed.—Exchange.

And the people are satisfied with all such extravagances of the Republican officials and continue to vote the Republican ticket. What care a majority of the voters of Pennsylvania how much money the Republican office holders fish out of the public treasury? They would rather enjoy the opportunity to rejoice over a Republican victory than have any measure of Reform inaugurated and faithfully executed by Democrats. They pay dearly for their Republican whistle but seem to like to pay well for their fun. So be it. The Democrats can stand this folly we presume about as long as they can. But sooner or later it must come to an end. Either the people will come to their senses or another form of goverment will be instituted in the place of the one given us by the fathers of the Republic. When fraud is endorsed and corruption and extravagance approved by the mass of the voters, then have we as a people made a great stride towards the end of popular government. Punishment must come, sooner or later, upon all who reject the right and sustain the wrong.—Perry Democrat.

Robbing a Bishop.

READING, November 25.—The elegant mansion of Rev. Dr. M. A. DeWolf Howe, Episcopal Bishop of the Diocese of Central Pennsylvania, was entered by thieves early this morning and plundered. The Bishop resides on Centre avenue, in the northern section of the city, where the houses are separated by wide lots. The thieves gained an entrance by forcing their way through the north bay window of the parlor and then opened the back and front doors. Nearly all parts of the house were visited, and the thieves hearing a noise in one of the bed chambers, locked the occupant in and turned the key on the outside. The thieves then proceeded to the closet and pantry and had a feast. A demijohn of wine was emptied during their feast in the parlor. Several hundred dollars worth of valuables, including silverware and clothing were carried off. The Bishop was not at home and the robbery was not discovered until this morning.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C., Nov., 26 1878.

General H. V. Boynton one of the best known and most reliable of Washington correspondents, and who does not often let his political opinions interfere with the accuracy of his statements, has just had suit entered against him in the sum of $50,000 for slander. Genl. Boynton made statements, now said to be false, concerning a Government detective. Moore, the detective, was employed by Grant or Grant's friends in an effort to discover what Bristow and other enemies of Grant's second Administration were doing. I mention the matter because it is not unlikely the suit, if pressed, will disclose much of the secret history of the last six years

Congress meets on December 2nd, and the House will find ready for its action several of the Appropriation bills. The Department estimates are generally based on last year's appropriations, and so great is the desire on all hands to have a quiet session that it is not believed the House will insist on many reductions or that the Senate will insist on increasing unreasonably the amounts to be voted. As heretofore stated there is considerable anxiety felt as to the success of the effort to resume specie payments, which will be made under the law within a month of the meeting of Congress, and without regard to party nearly all the members of both Houses will endeavor to aid in every way the effort. It is impossible to say what proper or improper bills may be introduced on the subject, but it is certain that none which are unfavorable to resumption will have a chance of passage. Whether the result shall be good or bad, the understanding is that the country is committed to the attempt to resume on January 1st just as much as it was to the payment of the unjust fishery award, and any interference be generally deemed unpatriotic.

If we may judge by the tone of the press, both North and South the flurry of apparent anger which existed just previous to the November elections has disappeared. Such things are not wholly evil if they finally bring different committees to a better understanding of each other. I have never wondered that many in the South felt extremely bitter towards the North after the conclusion of the civil war, or that many in the North having confused ideas of our Government, felt as if their section had a kind of property right in the Southern States and was called upon to act in the capacity of guardian. Such feelings were natural. As it seemed to be for the interest of a few Southern politicians and of a great party in the North that these feelings should continue, it is not perhaps strange that they have not entirely given place to better ones. But all the tendencies, especially in the South, are in the right direction. I consider General Gordon's unanimous election to the Senate the other day a better promise of future harmony than almost anything else that could have occurred. There are numerous other indications there that reason and patriotism are in control. That harmony, when it comes, will be enduring. In the early days of the next session of Congress there will come up in the Senate as unfinished business from the last session, and for final action, a proposition in which the whole country, but the South especially is interested and to which the assent of the patriotic North is asked. It is a measure which justice-loving northern men can unite in supporting. It is the giving of Government countenance to a southern railroad to the Pacific. I am free to say that any company in that or any other section should come before Congress with the extravagant demands made by those who built the Union and Central roads, or those who commenced the Northern Pacific—all, in reality, Northern roads—I should wish such company to be refused any aid or assistance. But the truth is that the only really Southern road asks for no Government bonds, and asks for no land, but proposes to return to the United States 30,000,000 acres of land. It asks really on a Government guarantee of interest on a limited amount of bonds, and pledges a completed road for the security of the Government. I said that justice-loving Northern men could vote for this. It is all that the South has asked—it is all that she will ask—against the enormous subsidies heretofore given to distinctively Northern enterprises of the kind. I go further and say that no Northern man who loves justice can vote against this measure.

SEMINOLE.

Three recent railroad accidents, two of them resulting in the killing of several persons, seem to belong to the class of preventible disasters. It may be difficult to find out exactly who was to blame for the explosion of the boiler of the engine "Gem," at Mahanoy, but boilers do not often explode when they are carefully constructed of good material and properly attended. The upsetting of a lamp in a parlor car seems a strange reason to be assigned for the destruction of the car by fire, in view of the care usually taken either to do away with lamps altogether or to fasten them securely. But the strangest accident was that on the New Brunswick railroad, where to save a minute of time, a large bale of bags was thrown from the baggage car while it was in motion. The bale falling under the wheels threw the train down an embankment, and four persons were killed. A good many deaths result from efforts to save here and there a minute or two of time—only last week a young man was killed in this city, by attempting to cross a moving train, instead of waiting for it to pass—but as a rule the only victim is the man who is in too much of a hurry to be careful. The crime becomes a very serious one when railway employees risk the lives of innocent passengers in attempting to save a few minutes of time.—Phila. Ledger.

The Over-Issued State Bonds.

Since the discovery of an over-issue of Pennsylvania State bonds of 1853, on August 7, between fifteen and twenty of these bonds of the denomination of $1,000 have been presented at the Treasury Department, at Harrisburg for redemption, but payment was refused for the reason that the full amount of the loan had been redeemed.

On November 7th one was received from Philadelphia and payment refused. Tuesday the same bond was sent on by the Central National Bank of Philadelphia, presented, and payment again refused. The bank then notified the Treasury Department that if payment was refused the same course would be pursued as in the case of a protested note, and the bond was accordingly protested. The State Treasurer will make a report of the matter to the Legislature, and will publish in full the correspondence with bankers and financiers upon the subject.

The fortune of the ex-Empress Eugine has been over estimated. The will of Louis Napoleon made in 1866, with codicils left with the notary Mocquard, and opened January 12, 1873, at Chiselhurst, three days after the death of the testator, gave his wife $25,000, to be raised from the Mazzold property, near Bologna, in Italy; 500,000 worth of diamonds; houses in the Rue de l'Elysee, valued at $400,000, and $16,000 in French Government bonds of the issue of 1872; total about $1,001,000, upon which the interest of five per cent would be $59,000. The Emperor left his son dependent upon his mother, and the only property he can claim in his own right is $8,000 bequeathed by the Princess Baccicchi, and a few other sums of very small value, not reaching together probably to more than $6000.

Items.

The Marquis of Lorne arrived at Halifax on Saturday night. The voyage was a tempestuous one.

The German Emperor will soon resume his sovereign duties in their entire extent. There was at one time an idea of lightening his Majesty's burden by dividing the supreme control between him and the Crown Prince.

A Baptist minister, named White, was shot in the head, while driving with his wife to a Baptist Convention, at Sumter, S. C. He is supposed to have been mistaken for a man who was active in the late election, and a colored man, named Coleman, has been arrested for the crime.

Japanese farmers are in distress. Floods of extraordinary magnitude have swept the lowlands, insects have destroyed 80 per cent. of the bean crop, small insects have devastated the rice fields; and in various parts of the empire virulent, infectious diseases are reported among horses and cattle.

A poor Irishman at Rochester owed a rich man some money, and was unable to pay. The rich man obtained a judgment and an execution, but there was nothing on which the Sheriff could levy. The Irishman had two large pigs, but the law allows a man two and the Sheriff could not take them. The rich man then bought two little pigs, had them presented to the Irishman, and thereupon took his two large ones.

A special from Tallahassee, Fla., says the Supreme Court has decided that the three precinct returns rejected by the Alachua county Canvassing Board are good and valid and has issued a peremptory writ to the Board to canvass them. These precincts gave Bisbee (Republican) a majority of 450, and, by the rejection of the returns by the Canvassing Board, Hull (Democrat) was elected. Bisbee's majority is about 200 in the district.

Traveling by coach in Colorado is often made interesting by robberies and sometimes by exciting accidents. A coach containing five passengers slid off the narrow road into a gulch, near Leedville, and rolled over and over until it struck, bottom side up, in a creek sixty feet below. Three of the four horses were killed, yet the passengers escaped with only slight injuries. They shivered around a fire until daylight and patched one another's bruises with paper.

Robert Lopez, a farmer living near Asheville, N. Y., exploded a cap on an old gun, that he thought to be unloaded while it rested across his knees. The ramrod, which was in the weapon, passed through the body of his little daughter, who died soon after.

A dispatch from the Cascades, Columbia river, says that the expedition sent out by General Howard for the purpose of capturing renegade Indians was a complete success. Captain Boyle with Lieutenants Cornman and Shaffner, surrounded their camp at night, in John Day Valley, and captured the whole party. Eight of the principal chiefs are en route to Vancouver, and the remainder have been sent under escort to the Warm Springs reservation.

A recipe to produce giddiness is kindly furnished by Nature. Stand in the middle of a soft field, and putting both hands on the top of an umbrella or walking-stick, bend down until your forehead rests on the back of your hands. Now move with a sidelong gait three times around the umbrella as an axis. Finally, raise your head quickly and try to walk straight ahead. What will occur is a frightful giddiness and sickiness, a sense of the ground rising up tumultuously on all sides, a wild rush to save yourself, and a headlong tumble. Appreciative spectators are requisite to the entire success of the experiment.

A Lady's Wish.

"Oh, how I do wish my skin was as soft and clear as yours," said a lady to her friend. 'You can easily make it so," answered the friend. "How?" inquired the first lady. "By using Hop Bitters, that makes pure rich blood and blooming health. It done it for me as you observe."

But on the other hand if you speak kindly of those around you, and assist them in gaining a reputation and in building up a character you will weave around you a net-work of friends and obligations, that will fortify you in business, in character and against all the wiles of Satan's darts that may be hurled against you during your whole life-time.—Ex.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH CHARTER.

At a meeting of the congregation of St. Paul's Episcopal church of this place, on Easter Monday 1877, for the election of members of the Vestry, a question arose as to who had the right to vote. On motion, Judge Elwell, Col. J. G. Freeze and R. C. Neal were appointed a committee to examine the charter and report at the next meeting who where entitled to vote. On Easter Monday 1878 the committee reported. As the formula for the conduct of elections will be acted upon at the next annual meeting, and as the report is of general interest concerning the construction of church charters we publish it below:

The committee to whom was referred the question of the right of suffrage at elections for Vestrymen of St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church, respectfully report:

That the right of persons to vote at elections for Vestrymen is to be determined altogether by the terms of the charter. The rights therein conferred cannot be extended nor diminished except by amendment of the charter in the manner provided by law.

By article four of the charter it is provided as follows: The Vestry of said church shall consist of seven persons who shall continue in office until others are chosen; and the election of such Vestry shall be made every Easter Monday by a majority of such members of said church as shall appear by the books of the Vestry to have paid two successive years immediately preceding the time of such election for a pew or sitting in said church.

The fourth article is to be construed in connection with the second article of the charter, by which it appears that members or corporators who accede to the authority of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States may have and exercise the right of a corporator upon compliance with the provisions in regard to payment for a sitting or pew in the church.

No person is entitled to vote at any election unless he or she shall have actually paid two successive years immediately preceding the election at which the vote is offered, for a sitting or pew in the church.

Members of the family of a pew holder are not entitled to vote on the ground that the head of the family is the lessee of a pew and has made payments as required by the charter.

When two persons have taken a pew, each having a defined and separate independent right and paying a fixed sum which shall appear on the books of the Vestry, they are each entitled to a vote.

No vote can be cast by proxy. Votes for Vestrymen are to be by ballot.

The committee recommended the adoption of the following formula for the conduct of elections.

On the day appointed by the charter for election of Vestrymen at seven o'clock p. m., at the church building the members present shall elect viva voce a Chairman, who shall appoint two tellers to receive and count the votes cast. All questions in regard to the right of any person to vote shall be determined by the Chairman. The polls shall be kept open for half an hour after the voting begins.

After the voting is concluded the result shall be publicly made known by the tellers and announced by the Chairman.

The proceedings of the meeting and the names of the officers elected shall be reduced to writing and signed by the Chairman and countersigned by the tellers, and given to the Vestry elect who shall cause the same to be entered upon their minutes.

A NOTE FOR SEVEN THOUSAND.

Robert and John Bryson, of Centralia, Columbia county, purchased the interest of William Torrey in a store at that place several years ago and gave a note of their mother in payment. The note was for seven thousand six hundred dollars and was drawn to the order of the Bryson boys and given to Torrey, who indorsed it and had it discounted at the First National Bank of Ashland. It was carried by that institution for a long time, being renewed from time to time until over a year ago, when the bank insisted upon its payment. Then six hundred dollars were paid on it and it was renewed for seven thousand, with Robert Gorrell's indorsement. Gorrell was at that time good for much more than seven thousand and the bank officers considered the obligation good. But the note went to protest and was sued out in Columbia county court. An affidavit of defense was filed and record made to that effect, but when the bank's attorney wanted the affidavit to ascertain whether it was sufficient, it could not be found. A rule was taken on the defendants to file another affidavit, which they did, and then it was learned that Mrs. Bryson had sworn that she had never signed the note. A prosecution was therefore instituted in Schuylkill county against the Brysons for forgery, and the case was called at Pottsville, November 21. Mrs. Bryson took the stand and testified that she had authorized the signing of the note, but was deceived in making the affidavit of defense by William Bryson, her son, an attorney of Columbia county. A motion for nolle prosequi was here made and argued. The attorney for the prosecution, Judge Ryon, denounced the act of Lawyer Bryson severely, and created a great sensation. The case was, nevertheless, non prossed, and William Torrey agreed to pay costs. By this proceeding he establishes the validity of the seven thousand dollar judgment, while the Brysons are saved from imprisonment by their mother's avowal of the genuineness of the note.—Phila. Times.

A MYSTERY IN CENTRE TOWNSHIP.

EDS. COLUMBIAN.—A strange and mysterious discovery has been made near the source of Briar creek on the farm owned by Elisha Hagenbuch. As Mr. Hagenbuch was passing through one of his fields one morning about one week ago, he was frightened by spying a deep depression in the earth beneath the branches of a large pine where he commonly drove his teams to rest on hot summer days.

The depression or cave is 18 feet in length, 12 feet in breadth and about 10 feet deep. It contains about 5 feet of water, and by penetrating the sunken earth with a long bar, timbers can be felt in various parts; also a huge log can be seen lying across the smaller end about 5 feet beneath the surface of the earth. Its outline shape is that of a trapezium. Some of the oldest settlers of this vally believe it to have been an Indian cave, from the fact that there is an adjacent field of about two acres that was cleared by the Indians, and this is supposed to have been their place of safety at night.

According to the wishes of the many visitors Mr. Hagenbuch will remove the sunken earth after which the writer will visit it again and give you the result of the discovery.

Yours truly,
J. D. CREASY.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT DANVILLE.—DANVILLE, Nov. 27.—At about two o'clock this afternoon, as Robert McElhoes was endeavoring to jump on a passing boat from a canal bridge, he stumbled and fell headlong to the bottom of the boat, breaking his neck and instantly killing himself. Deceased was sixty-five years old and leaves a wife and child.

ACCIDENT.—On Monday last W. J. Buckalew and M. F. Everly went to Geo. Cavence's in Mt. Pleasant to attend a Sheriff's sale In turning around the buggy was upset. The top, we are told, was torn off, Everly's collar bone broken, and Buckalew bruised.

IMPORTANT TO HOTEL KEEPERS AND TRAVELING MEN.

The Supreme Court has delivered an opinion which is of great interest to hotel keepers and traveling men. The case was that of John C. Potterfield, of Emlenton, vs. the proprietors of the Central Hotel, of Pittsburg. During the night Potterfield had his watch, pocketbook and jewelry stolen from his room. He sued the hotel proprietors and recovered the value of his property. The defense claimed they were not responsible because the defendant was drunk and did not know what property he had nor whether he had locked his door, and that the articles—a diamond pin &c.—were not reasonable and proper for plaintiff to have about his person in the hotel. The court said it adhered to the opinion of the late Judge Williams as to the extent and character of the liability of innkeepers for the goods of their guests. An innkeeper is bound to pay for goods stolen in his house from guests, unless stolen by a servant or companion of the guest. It is his duty to provide honest servants and to exercise an exact vigilance over all persons coming into his house as guests or otherwise. The judgment of the lower court is affirmed by the Supreme Court.

A RAILWAY TEMPERANCE LECTURE.

"Twenty years ago," said the passenger with the red ribbon in his buttonhole, "I knew that man whom you saw get off at the last station. He was a young man of rare promise, a college graduate, a man of brilliant intellect and shrewd mercantile ability. Life dawned before him in all the glowing colors of fair promise. He had some money when he left college. He invested it in business and his business prospered. He married a beautiful young girl, who bore him three lovely children—

The sad-looking passenger, sitting on the woodbox; "All at one time?"

The red-ribbon passenger; "No; in biennial instalments of one. No one dreamed that the poor house would ever be their home. But in an evil hour the young man yielded to the tempter. He began to drink beer. He liked it and drank more. He drank and encouraged others to drink. That was only fourteen years ago, and he was a prosperous, wealthy man. To-day where is he?"

The clergyman in the front seat, solemnly; "A sot and a beggar."

The red-ribbon man, disconsolately: "Oh no; he is a member of Congress and owns a brewery worth $50,000."

Sometimes it will happen that way.

The coolest piece of effrontery of which we have ever heard was practiced on Tuesday. A man went to E. R. Ikeler's residence and asked the servant girl for Mr. Ikeler's blue suit of clothes and when she hesitated he replied it was all right as "he had seen Mr. Ikeler at Crossly's shop yesterday where he was getting a spring to his buggy fixed." The girl then supposed it was all right and handed over the pants and coat with their contents, but fortunately did not see the vest which contained his gold watch or possibly this would have been given too. When Mr. Ikeler came home from his office in the evening he inquired for his suit and learned the above. The strange feature is that Mr. Ikeler had a buggy spring fixed as the party related.—Republican.

By reason of the decrease in the Democratic vote on Governor this year, the following Districts will lose a delegate for the ensuing three years, viz: East Bloomsburg, Centre, North Conyngham, Greenwood and Hemlock. This will reduce our Conventions from 70 to 65 delegates.

The town clock seems to be very much like that one of "Grandfathers" that we have heard mentioned recently. Its days of usefulness are nearly over. Perhaps a little attention occasionally would keep it straight. At present it is a public nuisance.

STOP DRINKING VINEGAR.

How many young women who have inherited a predisposition to embonpoint have ruined their health by drinking vinegar to reduce their forms to graceful proportions. Allan's Anti-Fat is absolutely harmless. It promotes digestion, and accomplishes its work simply by preventing an undue assimilation of the fatty ingredients of the food. Excessive fatness is a vexatious burden, and there is no longer any excuse for enduring it, since Allan's Anti-Fat is an effectual remedy for this abnormal condition.

A WARNING TO SCHOOL BOYS.—At Dayton Ohio, a few days ago, some boys at a public school took hold of a comrade, Clarence Powers, and said they would throw him down stairs. He held to the banisters, and they caught hold of his feet and pulled, trying to scare him. He begged them to desist, as they were hurting him but they only laughed, thinking he was pretending. When they did let go, however, he fainted and had to be carried to his home in Miami City. After he arrived there he did not seem to be much hurt, but the next morning he complained of a severe pain in the side. A physician was called, and, upon examination, said that the boy had been strained and was injured internally. Inflamation set in and the boy died in a few days, after intense suffering.

A REMARKABLE RESULT.

It makes no difference how many Physicians, or how much medicine you have tried, it is now an established fact that German Syrup is the only remedy which has given complete satisfaction in severe cases of Lung Diseases. It is true there are yet thousands of persons who are predisposed to Throat and Lung Affections Consumption, Hemorrhages, Asthma, Severe Colds settled on the Breast, Pneumonia, Whooping Cough, &c., who have no personal knowledge of Boschee's German Syrup. To such we would say that 50,000 dozen were sold last year without one complaint. Consumptives try just one bottle. Regular size 75 cents. Sold by all Druggists in Amerips.

IN THE WHOLE HISTORY OF MEDICINE,

No preparation has ever performed such marvellous cures, or maintained so wide a reputation, as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which is recognized as the world's remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs. Its long continued series of wonderful cures in all climates has made it universally known as a safe and reliable agent to employ. Against ordinary colds, which are the forerunners of more serious disorders, it acts speedily and surely, always relieving suffering, and often saving life. The protection it affords, by its timely use in the throat and lung disorders of children, makes it an invaluable remedy to be kept always on hand in every home. No person can afford to be without it, and those who have once used it never will. From their knowledge of its composition and effects, Physicians use the Cherry Pectoral extensively in their practice, and Clergymen recommend it. It is absolutely certain in its remedial effects, and will always cure where cures are possible.

THE SMILING DOLLY.

BY MARY MAPES DODGE.

I whispered to my Dolly,
And told her not to tell
(She's really lovely Dolly.—
Her name is Rosabell),

"Roxy," I said, "stop smiling,
For I've been dreadfully bad!
You must n't look so pleasant,
As if you felt real glad!

"I took mamma's new ear-ring,—
I did, now, Rosabel,—
And I never even asked her,—
Now, Roxy, don't you tell!

"You see I'll try to find it
Before I let her know;
She'd feel so very sorry
To think I'd acted so."

Still Rosabel kept smiling;
And I just cried and cried—
And while I searched all over,
Her eyes were opened wide.

"Oh, Roxy, where I dropt it
I can't imagine, dear;"
And still she kept on smiling,—
I thought it very queer.

I had wheeled her 'round the garden
In her gig till I was lame;
Yet when I told my trouble,
She smiled on, just the same!

Her hair waved down her shoulders
Like silk, all made of gold.
I kissed her, then I shook her,
Oh, dear! how I did scold!

"You're really naughty, Rose,
To look so when I cry.
When my mamma's in trouble
I never laugh; not I."

And still she kept on smiling.
Tho queer, provoking child!
I shook her well and told her
Her conduct drove me wild.

When—only think! that ear-ring
Fell out of Rosy's hair!
When I had dressed the darling,
I must have dropped it there.

She doubled when I saw it,
And almost bit her head;—
Again, I whispered softly,
And this is what I said:

"You precious, precious Rosy!
Now, I'll go and tell mamma
How bad I was—and sorry—
And O, how good you are!

"For, Rose, I hadn't lost it—
You knew it all the while.
You knew I'd shake it out dear,
And that's what made you smile."

—St. Nicholas for December

King Alfred's Lantern.

Did you ever try to imagine, when you were studying the beginnings of English history, what kind of people those old Anglo-Saxons were, and how they lived? They were our far-off ancestors, and our language for the most part was made from theirs; in fact we are called Anglo-Saxons ourselves; so we ought to feel interested in them.

They were a rude people in many respects and lived in a rude way compared with ours. How would you like windows which had no glass in them, very small windows, too,—but had oiled paper or sheets of horn instead? Of course the rooms must have been dark and dismal, you will say. And what would you think of houses without chimneys or anything we should call chimneys? But matters were really not much better, even in King's houses, about ten hundred years ago.

The most important room in those days was called the hall; and it was large enough to accommodate the family, the great company of servants, and all the guests who chose to come. They ate there, sat there, and most of them slept there on rough benches, or rolled up in skins on the floor. It was open to every chance traveler, to the wandering harpers, to beggars and everybody else.

The fire was built against a clay or stone arrangement, answering for a fire-place, at one end, or on an immense stone hearth in the middle; and the smoke, after floating up overhead, found its way out through an opening or a kind of turret in the roof. At dark they heaped high the logs and fagots; and happy was he who on a stormy night could get near the blaze. When supper time came, servants stood behind those at table and held torches over their heads till the meal was over; and when bed time came, the guests who had any other place to sleep were lighted to it in the same way.

As for the king he was more privileged than that; though just what they first used for lights, and just when lamps became common among the Anglo-Saxons, it is not easy to find out. We see in some very old pictures a simple little lamp, shaped perhaps like a saucer, hung by chains at the side of the room, and holding, no doubt, a piece of wax or some kind of oil, with a strip of cloth in it for a wick. Sometimes in the royal chambers, for a very long time after King Alfred's day, a light was kept by means of a cake of wax in a silver basin.

They knew how to make candles, however; but instead of putting it in a candlestick, it was put on it. The candlestick had a point at the top, called a spike, and the candle was made hollow at the bottom, and slipped down over the spike; one so fixed was known as a "pricket."

There is, among some illustrations of old customs, a picture of a candlestick, which is very queer though very elegant, and looks like a little piece of furniture. It is a tall stem rising from a three-footed, three-cornered stand, very much ornamented; it comes to a point at the top, and a little way below is a plate to hold the tallow or wax that might run down. We do not know that King Alfred had anything like this; but he had what nobody had ever seen before in that country, for he invented it himself, and that was a lantern.

This good king was a very busy man; the people around him might be willing to idle away their days over the fire, listening to the harpers, telling stories, and playing with the hounds, but he felt that he had a great work to do. He wanted to make his subjects more civilized, to teach them useful arts and he had not an hour to waste. He built towns, he built ships; he read and studied, and wrote,—and that was wonderful, indeed, in those days when there were but few books, and when even princes could not write their own names. He was the best, the wisest, and the most learned king that the Saxons had ever had.

He used to carry in his bosom "memorandum leaves, in which he made collections from his studies," and this journal he was in the habit of examining so much that "he called it his "hand-book." And, perhaps, that is where the word "hand-book" came from. Of course, he read far into the night, but he soon found two troubles,—there was no way to mark the time, for there were no clocks nor watches then, and he could not keep a light, because the houses were so open that the wind came in from every quarter. He had noon marks, but those amounted to nothing on rainy days; and everybody knows what a country England is for rain.

However, when such a man as Alfred makes up his mind to do a thing, he is almost sure to find a way. So he had a quantity of wax prepared, took enough of it to weigh down seventy silver pennies, and of it had six candles made, all weighing the same, and each twelve inches long, and marked off into twelve divisions. He planned so nicely that that these six would burn twenty-four hours; and he always kept one lighted day and night before some holy relics and images of saints which he had, and which, being a very pious man he carried about with his luggage wherever he went.

He would now have had not only tolerable light, but a very good way or marking the hours, if the candles had always been sure of burning a given time. But if the wind blew, the flame would flare, and perhaps go out; and the king made up his mind that there could be something done to remedy this,—and he did it. He made a frame work, and fixed into it little plates or windows of horn, scraped so thin that the light could shine through, set his candle inside, and shut it in,—and the thing was done. He had a lantern, sure in all weathers. A very small affair it may seem to you, but it was a great one to him.

I once saw a picture of a rude Saxon lantern, somewhat like his, perhaps, though it was probably an improvement on it; for no sooner does one man invent a thing, than another finds a way to make it better. This, in shape, made me think of a bird cage without the trap or railing. It had a kind of cupola-like top, and was much ornamented; there were bands with bosses on them, looking like metal, around the bottom, the middle, and next to the roof; and there was a pretty arched door. Altogether, it was a very curious, but a rather clumsy and rather dark lantern.—St. Nicholas for December.

A young man in La Crosse, Wisconsin, was an infatuated but unskilful poker player losing heavily every time he played. After getting rid of all his own money and all that he could borrow, he stole $20 from a friend and went once more to try his luck, which was bad as usual. Just as he went away from the table he was informed that his mother, on learning of his theft had fallen in a fit and died.

Autumn Care of Stock.

Autumn is here. Jack Frost and black frost have visited us and nipped much tender vegetation. The pastures are failing. Does the farmer appreciate this and provide extra food for his stock? If he does not, he fails to do his duty, and does not look well to his own interests. Stock should go into winter improving, not failing, condition. They should be strong and thriving, and be prepared to resist the cold storms that are sure to come. Unless fed some now they will lose flesh—and that is a loss of money to the farmer. To get paid for feed stock consume, they should increase in weight and condition. If they make no increase, there is no pay for the food consumed.

Milking cows will fail in their milk at this season, unless well fed. Pumkins and corn stocks, if cut at the proper time and well secured, make excellent feed for cows. It must be constantly borne in mind that a grist mill can no more supply flour unless the wheat is put into the hopper, than a cow can supply milk, unless plenty of good, nutritious food is put into her stomach. There must be something tangible to make milk. Of course shelter is important. By keeping the cow comfortable she has less use for the carbon contained in the food, and it will go to make milk. If our advice has been followed, and rye has been sown for pastorage the cows will give a generous supply of milk at this season. The calves, the lambs, the colts and pigs will revel in the luxury of sweet, green rye.

But so many farmers fail to do this. They are great loosers by the neglect. It costs but a little labor and how richly is that labor rewarded! The failure of farmers to supply winter pasturage for their stock is a serious drawback to them. Kentucky farmers appreciate the importance of it, and supply it generously to their stock, and thus keep it in a most thriving condition in winter as well as summer; and is so much cheaper to let the stock secure their own feed than for farmers to secure it for them. Those who have more stock than they can carry over the winter in good order, should get rid of it in some way. Sell it, or fatten it to kill, or give it away. If you have any old sheep in the flock, put them in a shed and fatten them, and they will bring good prices the first of next year. Weed out the poorest stock of all kinds, and get rid of it at some price or some way. Keep the best breeding animals. Don't part with them. Improve your stock and it will improve the condition of your purse.

Fix up everything so your stock can go through the winter in warm quarters and in good condition. In no department of farming do western farmers need more urgent advice than in giving better shelter, feed and care to their live stock.—Colman's Rural World.

SAVING CABBAGES TILL SPRING.—We know of no better way to preserve cabbages through the winter than that which we have recommended for a number of years. It is to plant or set them up in rows as they grow—that is with the roots down—fill in with soil pretty freely, then make a covering by planting two posts where there is a fence to rest, or four where there is not, allowing for a pitch to carry off the water; lay bean poles opposite the way of pitch, and cover with cornfodder or straw, or boards. In using through winter, avoid as much as possible the sun—side and close up again. We kept our cabbage for about twenty years this way in a perfect state through the winter and into the spring and could even up to the first of May if desirable. We see other methods recommended, and they may answer just as well, but as to your own we speak from a long experience.

ST. NICHOLAS,

Scribner's Illustrated Magazine

FOR GIRLS AND BOYS.

An Ideal Children's Magazine.

Messrs Scribner & Co., in 1873, began the publication of St. Nicholas, an Illustrated Magazine for Girls and Boys, with Mrs Mary Mapes Dodge as editor. Five years have passed since the first number was issued, and the magazine has won the highest position. It has a monthly circulation of OVER 50,000 COPIES.

It is published simultaneously in London and New York, and the transatlantic recognition is almost as general and hearty as the American. Although the progress of the magazine has been a steady advance, it has not reached its editor's ideas of best, because her ideal continually outruns it, and the magazine as swiftly follows after. To-day St. Nicholas stands

ALONE IN THE WORLD OF BOOKS:

The New York "Tribune" has said of it: "St. Nicholas has now reached a higher platform, and commands for its service wider resources than at first; letters than any of its predecessors or contemporaries." The London "Literary World" says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of scribner's press."

GOOD THINGS FOR 1878-9.

The arrangements for literary and art contributions for the new volume—the sixth—are complete, drawing from already favorite sources, as well as from promising new ones. Mr. Frank R. Stockton's new serial story for boys,

"A JOLLY FELLOWSHIP,"

Will run through the twelve monthly parts,—beginning with the number for November, 1878, the first of the volume,—and will be illustrated by James E. Kelly. The story is one of travel and adventure in Florida and the Bahamas. For the girls, a continued tale,

"HALF A DOZEN HOUSEKEEPERS,"

By Katharine D. Smith, with illustrations by Frederick Dielman, begins in the same number; and a fresh serial by Susan Coolidge, entitled "Eyebright," with plenty of pictures, will be commenced early in the volume. There will also be a continued fairy-tale called

'RUMPTY DUDGET'S TOWER,"

Written by Julian Hawthorne, and illustrated by Alfred Fredericks. About the other familiar features of St. Nicholas, the editor prepares a good-humored silence, content, perhaps, to let her volumes already issued, prophesy concerning the sixth in respect to short stories, pictures, poems, humor, instructive sketches, and the host of other "Jacks-in-the-Pulpit," the "Very Little Folks" department, and the "letter-box" and "riddle-box."

Terms, $3 00 a year; 25 cts a Number.

THE SUN FOR 1879.

The Sun will be printed every day during the year to come. Its purpose and method will be the same as in the past: To present all the news in a readable shape, and so tell the truth though the heavens fall.

The Sun has been, is and will continue to be independent of every body and everything save the Truth and its convictions of duty. That is the only policy which an honest newspaper need have. That is the policy which has won for this newspaper the confidence and friendship of a wider constituency than was ever enjoyed by any other American journal.

The Sun is the newspaper for the people. It is not for the rich man against the poor man, or for the poor man against the rich man, but it seeks to do equal justice to all interests in the community. It is not the organ of any person, class, sect or party. There need be no mystery about its loves and hates. It is for the honest man against the rogues every time. It is for the honest Democrat as against the dishonest Republican and for the honest Republican as against the dishonest Democrat. It does not take its cue from the utterances of any politician or political organization. It gives its support unreservedly when men or measures are in agreement with with the constitution and with the principles upon which this Republic was founded for the people. Whenever the Constitution and constitutional principles are violated—as in the outrageous conspiracy of 1876, by which a man not elected was placed in the President's office, where he still remains—it speaks out for the right. That is the Sun's idea of independence, in this respect there will be no change in its programme for 1879.

The Sun has fairly earned the hearty hatred of rascals, frauds and humbugs of all sorts and sizes. It hopes to deserve that hatred not less in the year 1879, than in '78, '77, or any year gone by. The Sun will continue to shine on the wicked with unmitigated brightness.

While the lessons of the past should be constantly kept before the people, The Sun does not propose to make itself in 1879 a magazine of ancient history. It is printed for the men and women of to-day, whose concern is chiefly with the affairs of to-day. It has both the disposition and the ability to afford its readers the promptest, fullest, and most accurate intelligence of whatever in the whole world is worth attention. To this end the resources belonging to well established prosperity will be liberally employed.

The present disjointed condition of parties in this country, and the uncertainty of the future, lend an extraordinary significance to the events of the coming year. The discussions of the press, the debates and acts of Congress, and the movements of the leaders in every section of the Republic will have a direct bearing on the Presidential election of 1880—an event which must be regarded with the most anxious interest by every patriotic American, whatever his political ideas or allegiance. To these elements of interest may be added the probability that Democrats will control both houses of Congress, the increasing disorganization of the Republican Administration and the spread and shiftings being everywhere of a healthy abhorrence of fraud in any form. To present with accuracy and candor the exact situation in each of its varying phases, and to expound, according to its well-known methods, the principles that should guide us through the labyrinth, will be an important part of The Sun's work for 1879.

We have the means of making the sun, as a political, a literary and a general newspaper, more entertaining and more useful than ever before; and we mean to apply them freely.

Our rates of subscription remain unchanged. For the Daily Sun, a four page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, postpaid, is 55 cents a month, or $6 50 a year; or, including the Sunday paper, an eight page sheet of 56 columns, the price is 65 cents a month, or $7 70 a year, postage paid.

The Sunday edition of the Sun is also furnished separately at $1 20 a year, postage paid.

The price of the Weekly Sun, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1 a year, postage paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free. Address

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY,

Conducted by J. G. Holland.

The Handsomest Illustrated Magazine in the World.

The American edition of this periodical is now

MORE THAN 70,000 MONTHLY,

And it has a larger circulation in England than any other American magazine. Every number contains about one hundred and fifty pages, and from fifty to seventy-five original wood-cut illustrations.

Announcements for 1878-9.

Among the attractions for the coming year are the following:

"Hawarden," a serial novel, by Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, author of "That Lass o' Lowrie's." The scene of Mrs. Burnett's new novel is laid in Lancashire; the hero is young inventor of American birth. "Hawarden" is the home of Mary Lee, Burnett has yet written. It will run through twelve numbers of the Monthly, beginning with November, 1878, and will be profusely illustrated.

F. LEONHARD'S, a serial novel, by H. H. Boyesen, author of "Gunnar," "Par Man and Next His Name" etc. In this romance, the author graphically describes the early thrilling on Norse immigrants in a western settlement.

A STORY OF NEW ORLEANS, by George W. Cable, to be begun in the early issues of "Scribner's." This story will exhibit the state of society in Creole Louisiana about 80 years ago. It is the time of the Cession, and a key to many existing characters is to be found in the present reconstruction period.

PORTRAITS OF AMERICAN POETS. This series begun in August with the portrait of Bryant will be continued, that of Longfellow appearing in November. These portraits are drawn from life by Wyatt Eaton and engraved by T. Cole. They will be printed separately on India paper, for framing, in packages of four different numbers. Illustrated sketches of the lives of the poets will accompany these portraits.

A NEW VIEW OF WASHINGTON. Mr. Herbert H. Smith, of Cornell University, a companion of the late Prof. Hartt, is now in Brazil, with Mr. J. Wells Champney (the artist), accompanied Mr. Edward King in his tour through "The great South," preparing for Scribner a series of papers on the present condition—the cities, rivers and resources of the great empire of South America.

"THE JOHNNY REB" PAPERS, by an "ex-Confederate" soldier, will be among the raciest contributions to serious and stirring memories of the war. They are written and illustrated by Mr. Allen C. Redwood of Baltimore. The first of the series "Johnny Reb at Pay" appears in the November number.

Terms 4 00 a Year in advance; 35 cents a number.

Subscriptions received by the publishers of this paper, and by all booksellers and postmasters. Persons wishing to subscribe direct with the publishers, should write a note, post office, county and state in full, and send with remittance in check, P. O. money order, or registered letter to

ANTI-FAT

CALL AND SEE

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week. In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to prove as advertised by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says: "Your bottle have reduced her weight from 190 pounds to 162 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds. The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOGLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. POWELL & PLIMPTON, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen.—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. 'It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost.'" Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism, for sale by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, fixed it out as "the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and under all circumstances, it will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician, and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which it is recommended. It will be sold under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For particulars, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppression when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Hemorrhages, Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Unnatural Mental Excitement, Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not wish this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfils a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all those painful derangements of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent postpaid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats plainly of those diseases peculiar to females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.
